ITALIAN BED

Asheet of leather
“pinched” in two places
at the base: here is where the movement and natural inclination of the headboard originate.

It has a comfortable and protective shape with remarkable formal simplicity and very thin sides marked by a lengthwise seam. The bed surface, which can be adjusted to two heights, has an effect of suspension and floating of the super-comfortable mattress.

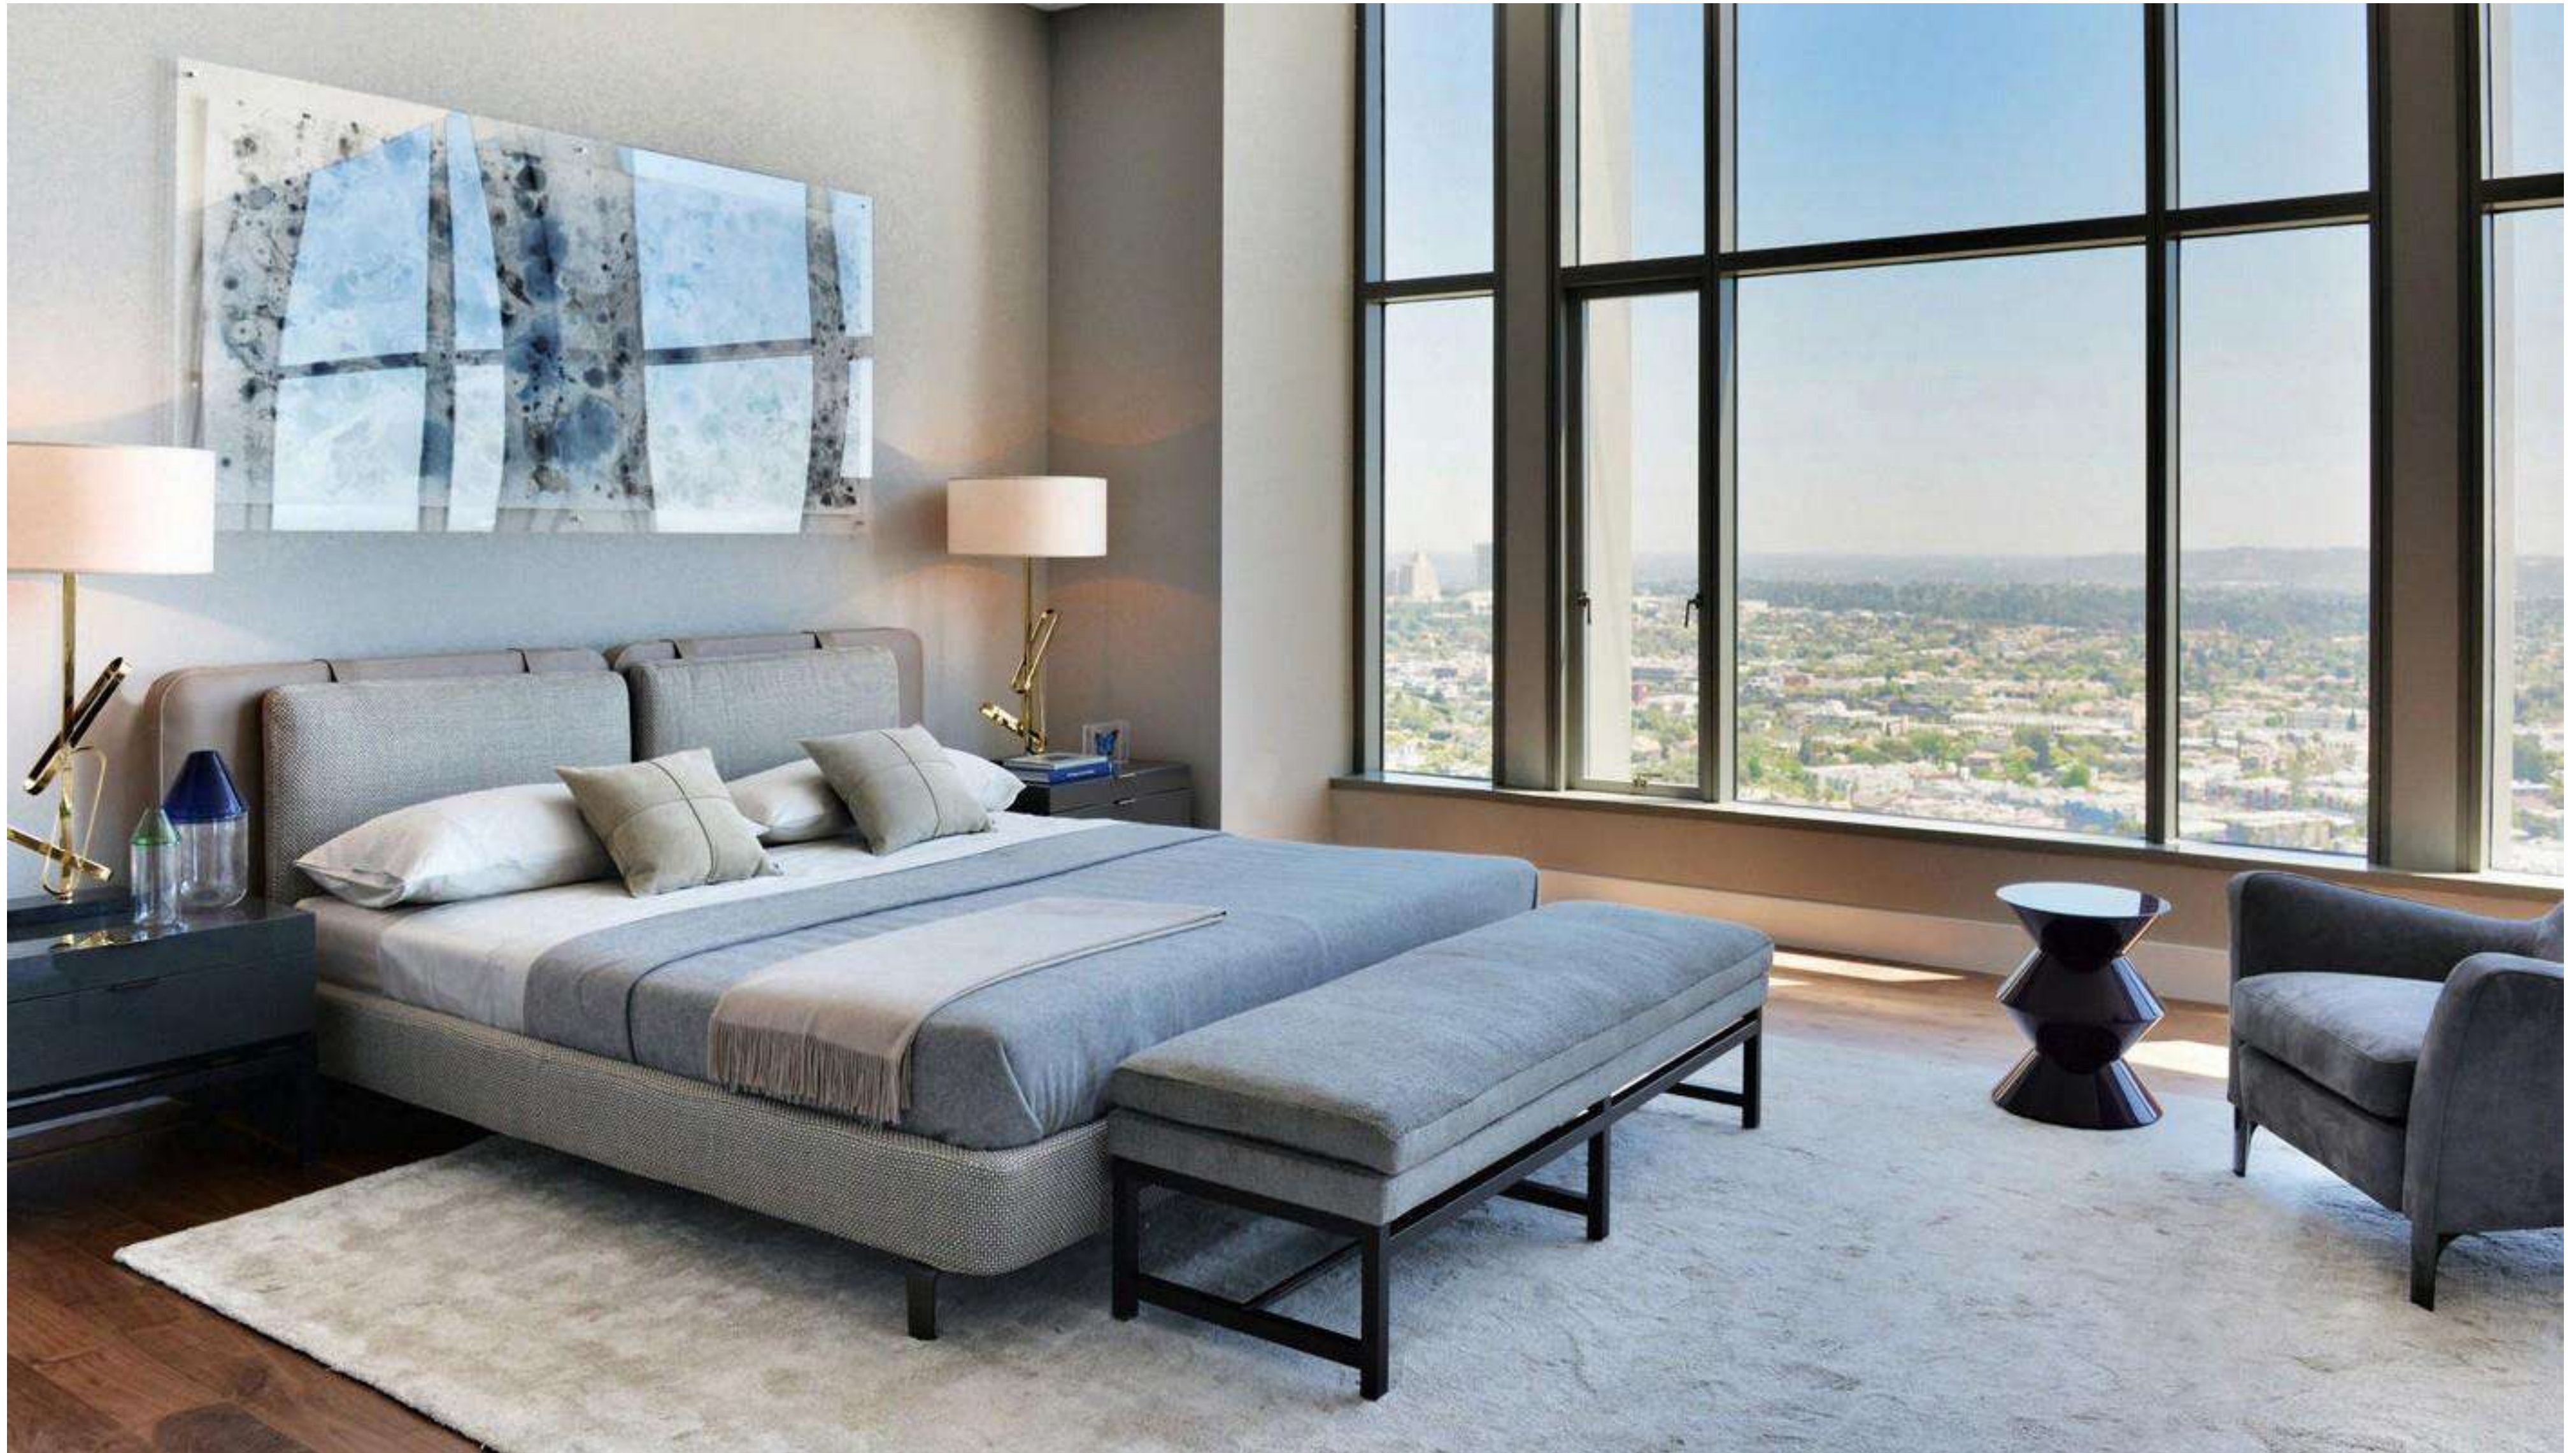

Masterful
craftsmanship
reminiscent of high-
end leather goods
lends an air of refined elegance to the 1602
bed.

It offers two versions: one with protruding sides compared to the slightly recessed mattress, and one more simple with the sides flush with the mattress. Available also in the variant with wheels.

Research into softness and comfort is common to the entire Husk series, from the armchair to the sofa and the chair.

A continuous single material shape with detailed proportions. Aesthetics have been brilliantly solved, as with the armchairs, compared to which the conical shape has been slightly reduced but it has been taken up in the design of the side. The mattress is placed almost flush with the perimeter to enhance the overall rigour.

The 1932 bed, sophisticated and sinuous, has soft lines that meld aesthetics and ergonomics. The elegant design epitomizes a bed that offers the utmost in comfort.

It is characterized by creating a pleasant game of heights, frames and consistency in the sign of the three-dimensionality and purity of the lines.

It has a comfortable and protective shape with remarkable formal simplicity and very thin sides marked by a lengthwise seam. The bed surface, which can be adjusted to two heights, has an effect of suspension and floating of the super-comfortable mattress.

The headboard features generous, soft padding and reflects the distinguishing motif of the Offset elements.

Elegant piping emphasizes their shape and unique horizontal stitching creates a slight indentation, addind to the distinctive personality of the design.

The leather or fabric cover is divided into squares, the distinctive feature of the series, on the base and headboard. With a base that goes down to the floor, it allows the internal space to be used as a convenient compartment.

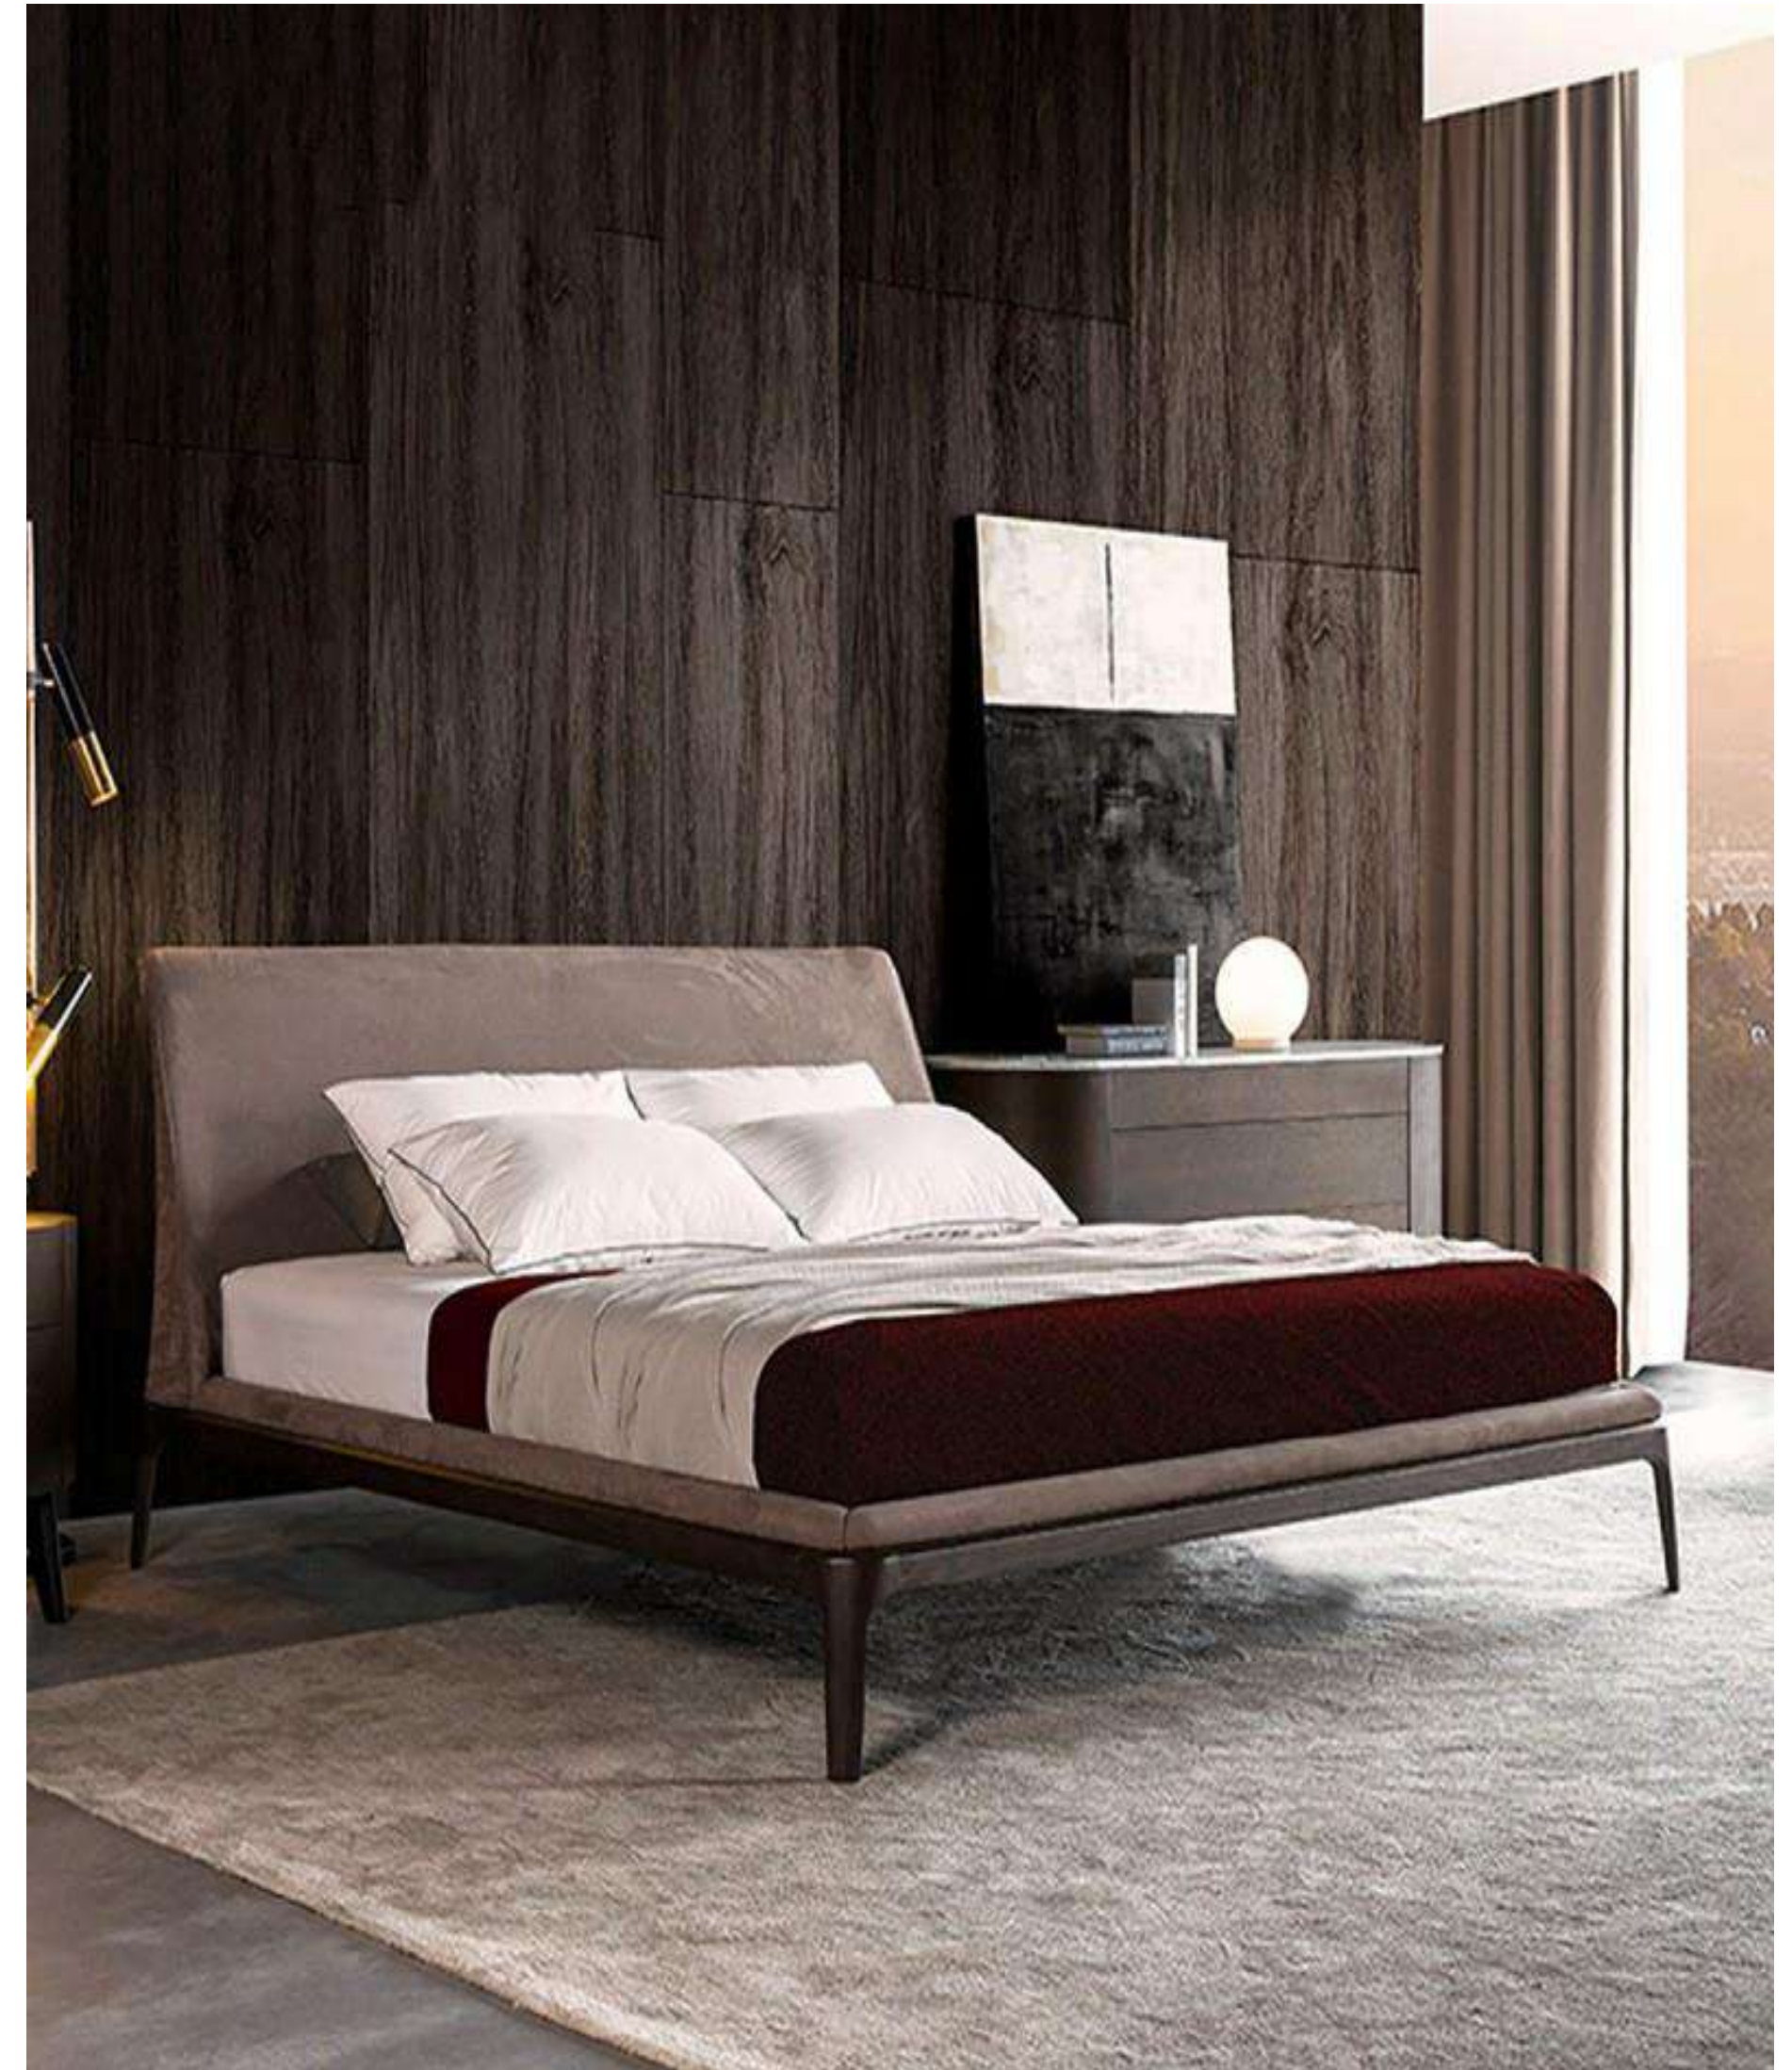

Comfort and solidity,
modernity and the
bond with tradition expressed by citing
the Chesterfield
spirit and capitonné
style.

The softness of the head that assumes in the night space an important visual centrality.

The chair is the one piece of furniture that is most closely related to the human shape. Even though this close relationship to the body arguably restricts its proportions, there is a lot of scope for different chair designs. The chair offers not just interesting structural challenges, it's also a perfect vehicle for narrative. It's material, construction, colour and shape convey information well beyond its functionality.

A recliner and rocking chair so you can go from rocking your precious baby, to kicking your feet up to catch some Z's without having to make slow cautious movements from the chair to their crib with the hope you DON'T wake them up in the process. It will bring a more homey feeling to your living room while helping you drift into a blissful afternoon nap

The kind of dining table that's best for your family is going to depend on your dining styles. Some families gather at the same time every day for a well-balanced meal and conversation. Others eat off shared plates, noshing and catching up on the day. Entertaining offers a new chance to show off your beautiful table, too.

Family dinners need more space than you might realize. Start with enough room for everyone to have a seat--then, figure you need a few extra seats for the friend who's still over when you start cooking or a neighbor who loves the smell of your kitchen. A rotating crew of extended family requires extra chairs, too.
